Newsletter No.195

Hello Everyone,

Past the shortest day, nearly the middle of Winter, we can start to look forward to Spring and warmer weather. We also look forward to more rain events. With no sub moisture and no irrigation water for this coming season our regions fortunes are definitely in the "lap of Gods".

Last newsletter I mentioned that we are experiencing a period of significant price increases on all product groups. These price increases are being blamed on the declining Australian Dollar against the American Dollar—extra cost because of increased tariffs between China and America and increased costs within Australia—fuel, transportation and wages.

Globalisation has definitely arrived into Australia, who owns which company or brand? For some enlightenment (if you are interested) google BAPCOR, this is an Australian Company, they own businesses operating in Australia and New Zealand, all in the automotive sector dealing with trade, specialist wholesale, retail and service. Then to expand or challenge yourself how big some corporations are, google KRR Investments. Some three years ago, Hitachi purchased Metabo Power Tools Divisions and married them into their Hitachi Power Tool Division. Roughly two years ago, Hitachi Corporation agreed to sell the Power Tool Division to KRR Investments.

As the name Hitachi belonged to the Hitachi Corporation, a renaming process has taken place with Hitachi Power Tools, now trading in Australia as Hikoki Powertools, and all new stock rebranded to Hikoki. In North America, all former Hitachi Power Tools are now rebranded to Metabo HPT, which means in USA you have Metabo Power Tools and Metabo HPT both owned by Hikoki, which in turn is owned by KRR Investments. Have a look online, google KRR Investments portfolio—some 194 companies world wide.

More comment next Newsletter? Enjoy, stay healthy and live life.

Cheers and Good Health—John P Lane (Managing Director)
